

What happened?

What were you thinking of at the time?

What have you thought about since?

Who do you think has been affected by what you have done?
In what way?

What do you think you need to do to make things right?

